

Pepper Riot - Raw Chat 4

Branding, Sales Setup & Changed Priorities

What this sample shows: a later project conversation where priorities shift, some ideas are rejected, and earlier decisions are reaffirmed. The conversation is intentionally left conversational so the later consolidation can demonstrate how repeated, changed, and unresolved information is organized.

User

Jen sent me some label ideas.

AI

Any final design selected?

User

No. I like one direction, but she needs the required label information before finishing it.

AI

Is Pepper Riot still the preferred name?

User

Yes, assuming the name check doesn't kill it.

AI

Has availability been checked?

User

Not properly.

AI

Then the name remains provisional.

User

Correct.

AI

Earlier you mentioned Instagram.

User

I created an account name idea but haven't posted anything.

AI

Website still deferred?

User

Absolutely. I almost started building one and caught myself.

AI

Because the project still needs validation first?

User

Exactly. No website until I know I can legally sell the stuff and have somewhere realistic to sell it.

AI

What about payments?

User

Cash and Venmo would be easiest. Square might be useful if I actually get into a market.

AI

Any decision?

User

No hardware purchase. If I can use a phone without buying much equipment, maybe.

AI

Keep payment system open.

User

Yes.

AI

Any change to the first market quantity?

User

I was thinking maybe 24 bottles because 18 sounds tiny.

AI

Is that a decision?

User

No. Actually leave it at 18. That's the whole point of testing small.

AI

So the temporary 24-bottle idea is rejected.

User

Right.

AI

What is the biggest priority now?

User

Stop messing with branding and figure out legal production and a market.

AI

So priority order is compliance and venue first, then final label work, then selling setup.

User

Yes.

AI

Recipe work too?

User

Right. Smoky Red still needs another version.

AI

Anything else?

User

I want one place eventually that tells me what we actually decided across all these chats because I can already tell I'm repeating myself.

AI

That would be a good consolidation point.

User

Exactly.
